DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 2, 4, 7, 11-13, and 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 2 and 4 are indefinite due to the presence of parenthetical expressions.

Claims 11-13 and 18-20 provides for the use of a elastic fiber, but, since the claim does not set forth any steps involved in the method/process, it is unclear what method/process applicant is intending to encompass. A claim is indefinite where it merely recites a use without any active, positive steps delimiting how this use is actually practiced.

Claims 11-13 and 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a use, without setting forth any steps involved in the process, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd.App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

7. Claims 1-8 and 14-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over European Patent Publication EP 0 821 086 (the publication).

The publication discloses a polyether ester elastic fiber of the type contemplated by applicants containing a polyether ester elastomer containing polybutylene terephthalate hard segments and polyoxyethylene glycol soft segments, per claim 1. See entire document, and for example, page 3, line 55 and page 4, line 2. In addition, the publication discloses that the elastomer is copolymerized with a metal organic sulfonate, which is present in an amount in applicants' range as required by claims 2 and 4-5. See page 4, line 35 and page 6, lines 25-29. The publication also discloses that the hard segments and soft segments are present in amounts within the instant claimed range as required by claims 8 and 14-15. See page 8, lines 28-31. Regarding properties such as the coefficient of moisture absorption and water absorption (claim 1) as well as claims 3, and 6-7, the polyether ester elastic fiber of the prior art is substantially the same as that contemplated by applicants, accordingly it is the examiner's position that these properties of the prior art fiber are the same as or substantially similar as well in the absence of factual evidence to the contrary. Applicants are invited to provide such evidence.

Therefore, the teachings of the publication would have rendered obvious the invention as claimed in present claims 1-8 and 14-15.

8. Claims 9-10 and 16-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over European Patent Publication EP 0 821 086 (the publication) in view of Azuse et al., US 2003/0024052 A1 (Azuse).

The publication is as set forth above but does not teach the application of a finishing oil. Azuse discloses lubricants for elastic fibers of the type contemplated by applicants, (see entire document, and for example, abstract, and [0010]) wherein the application to elastic fibers enhance their antistatic properties and prevent said fibers from tacking with one another during processing. It would have been obvious to modify the teachings of the publication by applying a finishing oil as required by applicants and as taught by Azuse, in order to enhance the antistatic properties and prevent tacking during processing. As to the amount of add-on, this amount would have been obvious to determine for optimization purposes during routine experimentation. As to claim 10, Azuse teaches a finishing oil of the type contemplated by applicants, thus, it is the examiner's position that properties such as the viscosity would be similar as that set forth by applicants, in the absence of factual evidence to the contrary.

Therefore, the combined teachings of the publication and Azuse would have rendered obvious the invention as claimed in present claims 9-10 and 16-17.

No claims are allowed.
